

Orisec Introduces Compact And Easy-to-install Covert Wireless Shock Detector

Published on 7 Feb 2018

At less than 1 inch wide, Orisec have launched a Covert Wireless Shock Detector which is small enough to install in almost any location, even concealed within uPVC window and door frames.

Orisec designs and manufactures wireless and wired intruder alarm equipment exclusively for professional installers. Founded on invention and innovation with a focus on exceptional design and performance, Orisec has filed more than 100 patents, registered designs and trademarks. Above all, their products are reliable and easy to install. Professional installers are welcomed to visit the 70,000 sq. ft. manufacturing and training facilities which are in Haslingden, Lancashire.